

PERCENT PROFICIENT IN MISSISSIPPI HIGH SCHOOL READING (2008-2010) WITH ACCOUNTABILITY STATUS RANKINGS 2011 - 2012 SCHOOL YEAR

WHAT THIS MAP SHOWS:

This map shows the Percentage of Mississippi High School students that tested proficient in reading for the last three available years (2008-2010) on Nat'l Assoc. for Educational Progress (NAEP) tests. This map also shows the new MS Dept. of Education Accountability Status ratings for each school district that were released Sept. 16, 2011.

The testing matrix has four levels of student performance: minimum, basic, proficient and advanced, with minimum the lowest and advanced the highest. Proficient means the student has learned the curriculum content for that year and is prepared to handle the course content for the next year.

The BLACK text in the map identifies the name of the district. The RED text identifies the abbreviation for the ranking. The BLUE text identifies the percent of HS students ranked proficiency in Reading on 2010 NAEP tests. The GREEN text identifies the percent of HS students ranked proficient in Reading on 2009 NAEP tests. The DARK RED text identifies the percent of HS students ranked proficient in Reading on 2008 NAEP tests.

The performance rankings are divided into 6 categories. Below are the number of districts in each category and the percentage of the total 152 districts and the abbreviation in the map in red:

Agricultural High Schools:
The Agricultural High Schools are not included in the visual map because they do not have discrete physical jurisdictions that school districts have. In addition, we do not have comparative NAEP testing data for the AHS's.

Clay County:
The reason Clay County has no data and is marked Not Applicable (NA) because it has no high school.

Forest City:
There is no reported testing data for 2010.
